

SRIC's Statement Concerning Coronavirus, COVID-19

24 March 2020

At SRIC, we put health and safety as priority. We act responsibly to protect our employees, contractors, customers, communities, suppliers and other stakeholders. At the same time, we are committed to keep production processes as efficiently and smoothly as possible. Now, 100% of our production facilities are in regular operation. The supply of raw materials to our plants is guaranteed in order to the best serve of customers' requirement as usual. Besides, our professional technical services is always available through Teleconference or any visual meeting applications upon your convenience.

Early in March, we were prepared to respond to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) challenge by implementing a range of local measures to protect our teams and contribute to containment of the disease.

These measures include virtual meetings, restricting travel, promoting hygienic behavior and working from home where possible. Measures and processes are in place for those working in operations to adhere strictly to the rules of hygiene and social distancing.

We are constantly monitoring and adapting our approach for each parties, while at the same time carefully following the development of the coronavirus and the local health authorities to ensure we take all necessary steps to respond to this pandemic.

The conditions we face are challenging and will continue to remain difficult for a period of time, thank all those who help making this possible: our employees, customers and partners who always support us.

Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact your usual contact person at SRIC. We are confident that we will overcome these challenging times together.

Thank you for your continued trust and support.
